

VERTICAL CITY

SOLUTION, DREAM OR NIGHTMARE?

In 2050 probably 80% of the world population will live in cities. This calls for a study how to build, in a sustainable way, high density modern housing projects.

Is the vertical city the solution or just a dream, or nightmare?

In this workshop, which is a combination of lectures, research and design, students from different European countries will study this issue for their future and their children's future.
